

Signe Qvist Nielsen

Final Year Interior Design Student

I'm an ambitious and dedicated interior design student, which designs reflects a deep connection to my Scandinavian background, minimalist but functional with a futuristic mindset.

Over the last three years, I have developed several design projects covering various aspects within the commercial design sector, including hospitality spaces in addition to showroom experiences. I have also entered competitions at the University, which has taught me the importance of time management and answering a brief from a real-life client.
